Chapter 1 by Sterling Silver

Elsa pulled back the curtains and opened the window, then took a deep breath of the summer air. Despite her winter powers, summer was still her favorite season. Especially after what happened last summer when her powers took over.

There was a knock on the door and Elsa went to get it. When she opened it, she got a blast of cold air. "Olaf!" she exclaimed as the snowman walked into the room.

"Hi Elsa!" Olaf replied. "I was just here to remind you that Kristoff and Anna's wedding is exactly 26 days, 5 hours, 58 minutes, and 29 seconds away!"

"Yes Olaf, I know. This is the fifth time you've told me about their wedding today," Elsa laughed. All of a sudden, her laugh turned to a maniacal one. She pinned Olaf to the ground and began to eat his carrot. Olaf screamed, "Snap out of it!" then punched Elsa in the face. Elsa snapped out of it.

"Oww, what was that for?" she whined as she rubbed her nose.

"Stop rubbing your nose, Elsa, because thanks to you I DON'T HAVE ONE ANYMORE!" Olaf screamed. Elsa promised Olaf a reward for what happened, then went to ask a doctor what was wrong with her. The doctor looked at her with a grim face. He said, "Bad news, Elsa. You have a condition called 'Elsa's Syndrome' which causes you to lose control of your powers when you're stressed. It's a rare condition, but it's not curable. You'll have to live with it for the rest of your life."

Chapter 2 by Jacinta Byrne

"A rare condition called Hevozaphiat. Strange, strange. I've never seen a patient who has had it before."

Elsa burst in to tears. "W-Will I die from it?" She choked.

The doctor bit his lip. "Well, Hevozaphiat is a contagious condition that can have several severe symptoms. For example, you might have searingly painful headaches, you may feel as if you are possessed, and you may suffer from depression. I have examined you thoroughly, however, and you will mostly do things you wouldn't normally do."

Elsa looked up at him in horror. "Contagious? Severe symptoms? Doctor, there must be a cure!"

"Ah, there's the good news. There is a cure, but it is a regular every day dose of brussel sprouts, mixed with rotten bananas, and a tablespoon of some special medical mixture. You must stay away from everyone, or at least everyone you care about, until I say you are alright."

This was too much for Elsa. Rotten bananas and brussel sprouts is one thing, but shutting Anna out - again?

Chapter 3 by StealthWriter23

She didn't think that she had the heart to do so. "There has to be SOME way that I can be with those I love, I mean there HAS to be!!!" Elsa exclaimed. "Well, there is one way..." Elsa woke up the next morning, feeling HUMILIATED for what she was wearing. She was wrapped in a gigantic clear curtain, face and all. "Elsa, why are you wearing that?" Anna asked curiously.

"Well, I may or may not have some condition called Hevozaphiat..." she replied shyly. "Hevo what now" said Anna, looking VERY surprised.

"Well, You see" said Elsa. "I'm not really supposed to tell you and others, because it's contagious, but I just couldn't shut you out again!"

"Oh, Elsa! It'll be okay, I promise!"

"Yes... But it happens to be rotten bananas and Brussels sprouts."

"Eww! Poor Elsa! I'm so sorry. Um, I was wondering... Where did Olaf's nose go?"

"Oh, heh heh... About that..." Elsa said slowly.

Chapter 5 by Ella

"Does that really matter, Anna? I mean, we're all here and happy!"

"Uh, Olaf isn't because his nose is gone..."

"oh really, I'll get him a new one." And Elsa's issue started up again. She took Anna's engagement ring and threw it across the room. "Hahaha!" She cried. Anna ran away, and started screaming that Elsa turned into a insane lunatic. But, we can't all be perfect, can we?

Chapter 6 by Marcus

Yes we can be perfect...perfectly weird. Elsa ran to her room devastated that she had hevozaphiat. she laid down on her bed contemplating over the fact the she had to eat ROTTEN BANANAS! and brussell sprouts until she was cured. Elsa heard a knock on the door, "who is it?", "It's me Olaf" replied a nervous Olaf, "May I come in" "yes" Elsa replied. Olaf opened the door to Elsa's room and found her laying on the bed. He said "I brought you some rotten bananas and brussell sprouts". Elsa turned as her sickness started up at the mention of the remedy and slapped olaf across the face and said "get down and give me twenty soilder!" After olaf had finished his twenty pushups Elsa said "I'm so sorry olaf my sickness just reacted to the mention of the remedy..."

Chapter 7 by Karlee
